

WATCH FOR THE GLITTER JUST SAYING

Dear Mrs. Candela,
I'M GOING TO MISS YOU SO MUCH! :(
This trimester was so much fun. I always had a blast and you woke me up with all of your screaming and jumping around, but that's what I love about you. You're fun and you care about your students. At first I was like "why are you yelling and jumping around HS TOO EARLY. Okay this letter won't make sense because I'm going off topic way to much but whatever. I feel like I'm going to fail this test. I studied every day for an hour, but I still feel like I'm going to get a C or something. I got a C+ for spanish and my mom is going to get mad at me oops. THAT TEST WAS SO HARD AND I STUDIED. Anyways, you were my absolute favorite teacher that I've ever had. You've gotten me to come out of my shell. I'm still working on that! Just a reminder watch out for the glitter if you haven't read the envelope. You said you liked glitter and sparkly stuff so YAY! 😊 Thank you for being the best teacher I've ever had! You know what you are doing and you have passion towards your job. You love what you do and that makes me realize that if you have the passion and drive

- to do what you want and are happy about it, you can achieve anything. It's a job if you have fun and love what you are doing. I wish I could write more, it's 10:55pm and I want to study more my mom is yelling at me.
BYE! :)

Your best student (I like to think I am)
I don't know if I am *COUGH COUGH*

Erica Haase -

That was really bad oops

Be the bigger, A wow that was